Dyker Heights building fire suspect indicted for arson, murder

By Rajvi Desai

A 22-year-old woman, who allegedly set fire to a Dyker Heights apartment building, killing two of her neighbors, was indicted on a charge of arson and murder, Eric Gonzalez, acting Brooklyn district attorney, said Monday. Joanna Mei, who is a resident of 6709 11th Ave., set fire to newspapers in a trash can with a candle on the first floor of her building, Gonzalez said. The two-alarm fire quickly spread to the top floors of the three-story building, killing two neighbors — 58-year old Xi Huang and 56-year-old Feng Xu, according to police. Surveillance footage from the building showed Mei exiting the residence soon after neighbors detected the fire and called 911, Gonzalez said. When captured, police detected accelerant on her shoes, he added. “The alleged actions of this defendant displayed a complete and callous disregard for human life, and caused two tragic but avoidable deaths,” Gonzalez said in a news release. “We will now seek justice for the victims and their loved ones for the heartbreaking loss that they suffered.” Mei was arraigned before Kings County Supreme Court Justice Neil Firetog on Monday in Brooklyn, where she was charged with two counts of second-degree murder and two counts of first-degree arson, Gonzalez said. She has been ordered back in court on Feb. 6, until then she will be held without bail, he said. Mei, whose alleged actions led to the injuries of five people, including a 4-year-old girl and a 3-month-old boy, could face up to 25 years in prison if convicted, according to Gonzalez.

#MeToo rally in Manhattan brings sexual harassment survivors together

By Alison Fox and Jesse Coburn

Several dozen men and women braved a snowy Saturday afternoon in Manhattan to join the #MeToo movement, aimed at showing how prevalent sexual assault and harassment is in society.

They huddled near Columbus Circle, chanting “no more” and holding signs — one bright pink and calling to “break the chains,” another calling President Donald Trump the “Sexual Predator-in-Chief.”

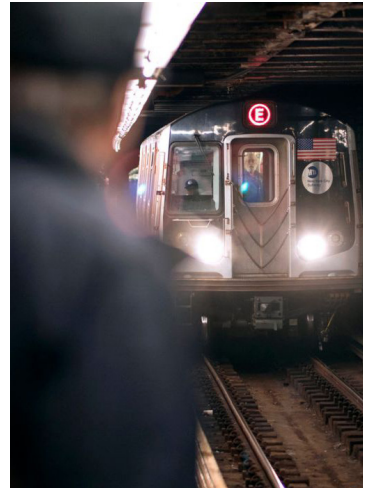

For two hours, they defied the freezing weather, standing behind barricades along Central Park West — across from Trump International Hotel and Towers.

“The alarm has rung and you cannot un-ring the bell,” Aryn Quinn, founder of the nonprofit End Abuse 4 Good, said to cheers from the crowd. “We have shone a light on abuse, and we cannot un-see what we have all seen. Today is the beginning of your freedom.”

Following the rally, many of the protesters entered the Columbus Circle subway station and placed sticky notes on the walls with messages like “you are strong” and “stand together.” NYPD officers promptly removed them, citing MTA regulations.

E, M trains to shut down from Queens Plaza to 50th Street-8th Avenue stations for repairs

This year may almost be over, but there’s still time for major service changes to E and M trains.

Later this month, the MTA will shut down a segment of the lines from Manhattan to Queens for nearly a week to perform sweeping repairs.

The closing is part of a new strategy to avoid extended weekend outages, as the agency attempts to restore plummeting subway service. The outage will span from Queens Plaza to the 50th Street-Eighth Avenue stations, beginning on Tuesday, Dec. 26 and ending Sunday, Dec. 31.

1. Prep your bag:

Shake 1 Tbsp. flour into the bag (this will blend with the fat and juices to help prevent the bag from bursting). Place in a pan that's at least 2 inches deep.

2. Prep your turkey:

Brush turkey with oil or melted butter and season with herbs/spices. Place inside the bag so the opening of bag is situated to one side (not at top of turkey).

3. Seal and Slit:

Tie the bag closed with the enclosed nylon tie. Tuck ends of bag into pan. With a small knife or kitchen scissors, cut six 1/2-inch slits in bag to allow steam to escape.

New York apartments are notoriously small, and my cute little studio is no exception - space is at a premium, which is one of the reasons that I only have a mini-fridge. Great for leftovers, cheese, and chilling Diet Coke.

1/4 cup minced garlic

Directions

1. Pour soy sauce, water, and vinegar into a large, non-metallic bowl. Whisk in brown sugar, white sugar, pepper, sesame oil, garlic, and onion until the sugars have dissolved. Submerge the ribs in this marinade, and cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 7 to 12 hours; the longer, the better.
2. Preheat an outdoor grill for medium-high heat.
3. Remove ribs from the marinade, shake off excess, and discard the marinade. Cook on preheated grill until the meat is no longer pink, 5 to 7 minutes per side.

Q How do you imagine your thirties to be like?

A Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit. Duis vitae tortor pharetra, placerat diam in, venenatis nisl. I've been privileged in the way that I have never had to work with people, mostly recently, I've never had to work with anyone that had a tremendous ego, and that has been a blessing to me. Because I was always that girl as a writer who would be in the studio with a producer who was, you know, tsuperstar, I don't need your California sushi roll, you know what I mean?
